WAR AGAINST PROPERTY.

The time would seem to be rapidly approaching for such a contingency in this country as was predicted some years ago in a remarkable letter of Lord Macaulay. He asserted in substance that suffrage without property qualification would inevitably result in the development of the agrarian principle. In his opinion, there was nothing in the political institutions of the United States to guarantee the wealthy few against spoilation by the many. Those who are accustomed to follow closely the sequence of political ideas and movements must have observed much in the avowed doctrines and in the accomplished measures of the ascendant party in the United States, plainly tending to an organized war against property. Those northern capitalists who were so ready to give assent or assistance to the confiscation of two thousand millions of slave property, on the ground that slavery was a despotism of capital over labor, will have no reason to be surprised if their own vested rights shall be assailed by a party ostensibly formed in the interest of labor through the contrivance of ingenious demagogues. And it is difficult to see what may save them from this recoil of their own engine. The political revolution, which had either their aid or cordial acquiescence, the subversion of constitutional safeguards of both public and private liberties which they did nothing to avert, have left them disarmed and defenseless against a threatened economical revolution which involves the annihilation of all the great properties and capitalized industries in the country. That they are now alarmed at this aspect of the revolutionary politics to which they have heretofore been complascently subservient, is evident from the tone in which the more conservative portion of the Republican press comment upon an agrarian speech recently made by Senator Ben Wade—the president of the United States Senate, be it remembered, and contingent President of the United States—at Lawrence, in Kansas. On that occasion he said, as reported by telegraph:

"Congress, which has done so much for the slave, cannot quietly regard the terrible distinction which exists between the laborer and the employer. Property is not fairly divided, and a more equal distribution must be wrought out. If your dull heads can't understand this, the women will, and canvassers upon the eve of an election will have to tell the laborers what they will do for them. Men should not be compelled to labor until life is worn out, and being is a curse, nor can this always be the case. Here, where every man is a capitalist to a certain extent, these inequalities are not felt as they are in the East. Every man there who is subject to a capitalist ought to leave him and get two hours nearer sundown forthwith."

The meaning of this language is unmistakable. Wendell Phillips, with a sardonic humor peculiarly his own, is accustomed to clothe the edge of violent and sanguinary counsel with scraps of velvety euphemism. Senator Wade is not given to this sort of pleasantry. He reveals plainly and at once the platform of a new radical movement—a platform of which the first, last and only plank is simply this: confiscation and distribution. The ethics of this movement are by no means new. They are as old as avarice and unthrift. Those who are criminally poor have always cast vulturous eyes on the possessions of those whom they would fain regard as criminally rich. The misfortune is that, between the two classes, the honest and useful portion of society are apt to be the only victims. This platform is obviously based on the memorable dogma of the French reformist, Prudhon, that "property is theft," to which Senator Wade has added, in the spirit of an inexorable logician, that robbery is the recovery of one's own. And, assuredly, the last proposition is sound precisely as far as the first is true.

It is very noteworthy and significant that Senator Wade points to the Eastern States as the section where the species of theft in question is most flagrant, and where the stern hand of reform is most needed to give the impoverished laborer his rights as a man and as a citizen. Right there, where wealthy property-holders were loudest in urging a crusade against Southern property-holders in the interest of slave laborers, the condition of free laborers, according to Senator Wade, is one of intolerable misery—"compelled," as they are, "to labor until life is worn out and being is a curse." Hence he deems it supremely just that the war on property, which is to follow the war on slavery, should make its first campaign in the East. It is there, above all, that he would have Congress, after abolishing the relation between the slaveholder and slave, address itself to the work of destroying "the terrible distinction which exists between the laborer and the employer."

The New York Times says that "there is not the slightest chance" that this agrarian movement will be fastened on the Republican party. But the Times has not heretofore distinguished itself for the success of its prophecies as to what principles and purposes may ultimately prevail with that party. Supposing, however, that it should repudiate the general confiscation and distribution platform, there can be little doubt, as the Times observes, that a new party will be organized upon it.

Nor can it be doubted that such an organization would produce a profound effect on the elements of both the Democratic and Republican parties. It is not impossible, indeed, that the one which should be threatened with the most elemental loss by reason of the absorbing power of the new party, would at length, if it were possible in the nature of things, unite common cause with the latter and endeavor to take the lead in a movement which it seemed hopeless to oppose. At least one influential Democratic organ intimates that such should be the policy of its party in the predicament described. We refer to the Cincinnati Enquirer which says:

"There is nothing, in the abstract, very relishing in the fact that the 'shadow of another struggle is over us;' but if there is to be another struggle to emancipate the slaves of capital in the East—slaves whose condition is more abject and humiliating than that of the African was at the South—we are not among those who intend to sacrifice ourselves to prevent that which is inevitable. He who raises the standard for a more equal distribution of existing property, has only to make a show of force to enlist an abundance of followers; and he will have to travel very far himself to keep at the head of the mass of his recruits.

"Of one thing, the leaders of the Democratic party have been afraid—afraid as persons are afraid who dread anarchy, and the uprooting of society and its fixtures to its very foundations. They have foreboded that out of these agitations would arise some inexorable logical leader who would insist upon carrying the doctrines to which they have given vitality to their legitimate practical conclusions. Desirous as the leaders of the Democratic party may be to retain their hold upon the masses, they are assured that let the cry of a fresh distribution of goods, chattels and estates be once fairly raised, and the alternative will instantly be presented to them to lead on the column or to be deserted, and perhaps victimized."

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the maletic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

MANY PERSONS SEEM UNCERTAIN AS to the construction of Gen. Sickles' order against carrying "deadly weapons," and are afraid to hunt squirrels, &c. We are assured by an officer of the General's staff, that the order is only intended to prohibit the too common practice of carrying concealed weapons upon the person, and to check the lawlessness so prevalent in certain sections of the country.—Union Register.

UNCERTAINTIES OF THE LAW—WHO CAN VOTE?

The haste with which the matter of a daily paper is prepared, especially when the labor devolves upon one or two persons, renders mistakes or obscure and often incorrect paragraphs, statements, &c., almost unavoidable. But the press certainly should not be blamed, where the greater portion of the legislation of the country, whether the work of Congress or of the State Legislatures, done too under the eye and by the participation of astute lawyers, is so obscurely expressed and prepared so badly, from haste or other causes, that it is necessary to employ the entire legal force of the country, with the entire judiciary to help, to arrive at definite, certain, fixed and uniformly satisfactory conclusions, as to the real meaning and intent of the law.

This fact has been most fully established, by the variant and often violent constructions put upon the meaning of the late Reconstruction Acts, by lawyers, judges, editors, officers, &c. These constructions have been vexatiously variant, so much so, that thousands of our white population who are really entitled to vote are inclined to ignore the ballot box, for fear of being turned off.

We ventured a day or two ago, to suggest, who in North Carolina were entitled to vote, but feeling forcibly the "uncertainties of the law," we carefully ensconced ourselves behind Gen. Sickles, not knowing what would be his ultimatum.

It is doubted whether we were correct, especially in regard to what has been generally termed the "ministerial" officers of the Counties. It may be that we were not, and shall be glad to know it.

Further reflection on the general tenor both of Attorney General Stanbery's opinion and upon the laws themselves, impress us strongly that many persons have mistaken the true intent and meaning of the laws as designed by Congress. As a general rule of construction it is evident, that the Judiciary act upon a correct principle, when they determine to construe a law to mean what it says: i.e. according to the obvious meaning of the verbiage employed and the general scope of the law itself. This would always be a safe construction, it legislators who are politicians, always meant what they say. But this is clearly not always the case. The Reconstruction Acts is a case directly in point.

Let us see. What did Congress mean, design or purpose, when it passed the reconstruction Acts? The Southern States had grievously offended that body, by refusing, when submitted to them as a matter of choice, the so-called, Howard amendment. That having been fully endorsed by their constituency, the majority of Congress determined to force upon the Southern States the adoption of the Howard amendment by the military arm. This was the entire object of that body. For this purpose, the reconstruction Acts were framed embodying the military feature. Hence, therefore, it has occurred to us, if in determining the meaning of the Reconstruction Acts any reference is had to the designs of Congress, it is plain that the principles of the Howard amendment, should be considered and applied.

The object of Congress, therefore, seems to have been, first, to admit to suffrage in the work of reconstruction every colored man in the South, 21 years of age, and secondly, to disfranchise every white man in the South, who at any time previous to the "rebellion," had held office and taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, either under the United States or in the States, and afterwards violated that oath, by being in any wise voluntarily connected with the rebellion.

The Howard amendment was very carefully drawn up and for a purpose. The object of the drafters, was evidently to embrace in it the real essence of the hostility of the Republican party to the Constitution of the United States and its ultimate purpose to overthrow it; but at the same time to employ such language, as seemed really consonant with the language and tenor of the Constitution itself, so as not to arouse opposition. Hence, the Howard amendment did not, in so many words, authorize universal negro suffrage, nor did it directly disfranchise the disloyal whites from voting directly, but inhibited them from holding office, but employed such verbiage as would, on a stretch of the language employed, confer upon Congress the power to do both. The refusal of the South to adopt the Howard amendment determined the Congress to cut the knot and do both. Hence we should not be surprised if the whole question of distranchisement, is settled down at last upon this simple question: Have you, previous to the war, held any office either under the United States or the States in which you were required to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and did you violate that oath by being either directly or indirectly, voluntarily guilty of taking part or aid in the late rebellion?—thus making the disfranchisement turn upon the assumed guilt of the party, on his violation of that oath. Gen. Pope's order, and we judge Gen. Sheridan's also, exclude from voting all such parties. Should Congress assemble, we should not be surprised if that body ignore the decision of the Supreme Court, and acting upon the suggestions of Messrs. Stanton, Seward and McCulloch, should also disfranchise all lawyers. So far as North Carolina is concerned, no definite opinion can be settled down upon, until Gen. Sickles issues his order.

HINTON ROWAN HELPER'S NEW BOOK.

NOJOQUE: A QUESTION FOR A CONTINENT, by HINTON ROWAN HELPER, of North Carolina, Author of "The Impending Crisis of the South." New York, Carleton & Co., Publishers, 1867.

Some men acquire notoriety for their good deeds, others for their bad ones—some for their usefulness in society, others for their viciousness. To this latter class, Mr. Helper belongs. He is a native of the South—of North Carolina, yet he is not of us. Schooled and steeped in a spirit of antagonism to his own people, he began his career of mischief years ago, which out-cropped in the production of a book called "The Impending Crisis," which although utterly discarded by the South because of its untruthfulness and vicious character, received the endorsement of the Radical party at the North, and became at once a text-book of that party, and was used with telling effect against the South in the great slavery controversy.—Without real merit, the book became popular at the North, because of its style and matter, and obtained quite a circulation.—For this labor of love for the Radical or Republican party, Mr. Lincoln awarded him with a consulship in South America.

Why Mr. Helper has seemingly abandoned his quondam friends and turned his batteries against them, by producing "Nojoque," his new book, we have no means of knowing, unless his vanity, arising from his success with "The Impending Crisis," of which his new book affords abundant evidence, leads him to aspire to the position of a reformer. Both books fix definitely his character as a Radical, the latter being a natural sequence of the former, though totally differing from each other in their purpose.—"The Impending Crisis" shocked every Southern man with its bold falsehoods, its hate of the white race under the guise of friendship, and its violent character; "Nojoque" will shock all Christendom with its infidelity, its inhumanity and its bitter hate of the negro and skins of all colors, except the white. His first book was excessively abusive of the Southern whites, now he turns with greater venom upon the negro and Northern "negro-kissers" with whom he has been in concord until recently. The first book found willing readers in the North among those whom fanaticism and hate of Southern whites made it welcome, but "Nojoque" will find few readers, and least of all in the South.

But we shall not consume space in reviewing a book so deleterious in its sentiments. Nothing can alienate the Southern whites from the blacks and make them their enemies, but their own disregard of the ties and sympathies of the past. We shall simply content ourselves with a few extracts from the book, which we find made ready to our hand by our cotemporaries, to show its real spirit. The following taken at random will be sufficient for this purpose. Of the Congress, which has signalized itself as haters of the whites and extreme lovers of the blacks, he says:

"Among other black monstrosities which shall be herein arraigned for castigation, is a high-handed assemblage of conspirators against public rights, public morals, public safety, public interests, and public decency, now (or but recently) organized in the good city of Washington—a sectional and seditious assemblage, which shall be everywhere stigmatized and detested, in all future time, as the Black Congress. Without an open and complete renouncement of all past errors, conjoined with a full and solemn promise of better behavior hereafter, few members of the Black Congress, whether Senators or Representatives, should ever again be elevated to any office, whether national or municipal, or of any other grade or nature whatever, within the gift of the American people."

He asserts that every where, and at all times, when the negro has been placed upon his own resources, as he thinks he ought every where to be, there is in him an "unchekable tendency to decrease, to die, to disappear; in a word, to cease to retain a vital foothold upon the earth. So may it be."

"Strikingly apparent is it that the negro is a fellow of many natural defects and deformities. The wretched race to which he belongs exhibits, among its several members more cases of lusus naturæ than any other. Seldom, indeed, is he to be seen except as a preordained embodiment of uncouth grotesqueness, malformation, or ailments. Not only is he cursed with a black complexion, an apish aspect, and a woolly head; he is also rendered odious by an intolerable stench, a thick skull and booby brain. An accurate description of him calls into requisition a larger number of uncomplimentary terms than is necessary to be used in describing any other creature out of tophet; and it is truly astonishing how many of the terms so peculairly appropriate to him are compound words of obloquy and detraction."

And again:

"The night-born ogre stands before us, we observe his low, receding forehead; his broad, depressed nose; his stammering, stuttering speech; and his general actions, evidencing monkey-like littleness and imbecility of mind. By close attention and examination, we may also discover in the sable individual before us, if, indeed, he be not an exception to the generality of his race, numerous other prominent defects and deficiences. Admit that he be not warp-jawed, muffled-tongued, nor tongue-tied, is he not skue sighted, blear-eyed, or blobber-lipped? If he be not wry-necked, wen-marked, nor shoulder shotten, is he not stiff-jointed, hump-backed or hollow bellied? If he be not slab-sided, knock-kneed, nor bow-legged, is he not (to say the least) spindle-shanked, cock-heeled, or flat-footed? If he be not maimed, halt, nor blind, is he not feverish with inflamations, festerings, or fungosities? If he be not afflicted with itch, blains or blisters, does he not squirm under the pains of boils, burns, or bruises? If he be not the child of contusions, sprains, nor dislocations, is he not the man of scalds, sores, or scabs? If he be not the endurer of the aches of pneumonia, pleurisy, nor rheumatism, does he not feel the fatal exacerbations of rankling wounds, tumors, or ulcers? If he be no complainer over the cramps of coughs, colics, nor constipation, doth he not decline and droop under the discomforts of dizziness, dropsy, or diarrhœa? If he be no sufferer from hemorhoids, erysipelas, nor extoliation, is he not a victim of goitre, intumescence, or paralysis? If he experience no inconvenience from gum-rash, cholera-morbus, nor moon-madness, does he not wince under the pangs of the hip-gout, the tape-worm, or the mulligrubs? If he be not free from idiocy, insanity, or syncope, is he not subject to fits, spasms, or convulsions? Aye, in almost every possible respect, he is a person of ill-proportion, blemish and disfigurement; and no truer is it that the Turk (in Europe) is the sick man of the East, than that the negro (in America) is the sick man of the West. Neither the one nor the other will ever recover. The malady of each is absolutely incurable. Both are doomed to take upon themselves—and that very soon—the cold and inanimate condition of complete fossilization."

Of the condition of the negro when brought to America, he says:

"He was hatless, and coatless, and trouserless, and shoeless, and shirtless—in brief, he was utterly resourceless, naked and filthy. He came as the basest of criminals—he came as a slave; for submission to slavery is a crime even more heinous than the crime of murder; more odious than the guilt of incest; more abominable than the sin of devil-worship. With himself he brought no knowledge of agriculture, commerce, nor manufactures; no ability for the salutary management of civil affairs; no tact for the successful manœuvring of armies; no aptitude for the right direction of navies; no acquaintanceship with science, literature, nor art; no skill in the analysis of theories; no sentiment stimulative of noble actions; no soul for the encouragement of morality. Bringing with himself nothing but his own black and bastard body, denuded and begrimed, he came like a brute; he was a brute then; he had always been a brute, he is a brute now; and there is no more reason for believing that he will ever cease to be a brute, than there is for supposing that the hound will ever cease to be a dog—only that the black biped, the baser of the two, will be the sooner exterminated. Yet this is the fatuous and filthy fellow whom, by certain degraded and very contemptible white persons, we are advised to recognize as an equal and a brother!"

Mr. Helper insists that the black race is unfit for the association of the Caucassian race, that they must be exterminated or driven from the country. He says:

"No permanent lodgment, no enduring part nor lot, must the black and baneful negroes be permitted to acquire in our country. Already have they outlived the period of their usefulness—if, indeed, they were ever useful at all; and the solidifying and concealing subsoil is now urgently claiming as overdue to itself those osseous parts of their frames which, for so long a time, have been fated and fitted for fossilization."

And again:

Certain it is that we owe it to ourselves—and we ought to be able—to get rid of the negroes soon; but if they are to be retained much longer in the United States, (which may God, in his great mercy, forbid,) we may as well build immediately, for their relief and correction, in alternate adaptation, a row of hospitals and prisons, all the way from the Atlantic to the Pacific; and, upon the same plan, a range or series of almshouses and penitentiaries the entire distance from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico! All the devil begotten imps of darkness, whether black or brown, whether negroes or Indians, whether Mongols or mulattoes should at once be dismissed, and that forever, from the care, from the sight, and even from the thoughts, of the Heaven-born whites. Wherever seen, or wherever existing, the black and bi-colored races are the very personifications of bastardy and beggary. In America, these races are the most unwieldy occasioners of dishonor and weakness; they are the ill-favored and unwelcome instruments of dirservice; they are the ghastly types of effeteness and retrogression. At the earliest practicable moment, these inutile and baneful elements of our population must be either deported or fossilized.

Speaking of free negroes he quotes the following from the N. Y. Tribune, which he says is truthful and admirable. The Tribune said a while ago:

"Nine-tenths of the free blacks have no idea of setting themselves to work except as the hirelings and servitors of white men; no idea of building a church, or accomplishing any other serious enterprise, except through beggary of the whites. As a class, the blacks are indolent, improvident servile, and licentious; and their inveterate habit of appealing to white benevolence or compassion whenever they realize a want or encounter a difficulty, is eminently baneful and enervating. If they could never more obtain a dollar until they shall have earned it, many of them would suffer, and some perhaps starve."

"This is the incorrigible and groveling ignoramus upon whom it is proposed to confer at once the privilege of voting—the right of universal suffrage! This is the loathsome and most execrable wretch (rank smelling and hideous arch criminal that he is) who has been mentioned as one fit to have a voice in the enactment of laws for the government of the American people! Shall we confer the elective franchise on this base and ill bred blackamoor—this heathenish and skunk-scented idiot? No! Why not? Because he does not know, and cannot know, how to vote intelligently. It would therefore, to say the least, be an act of gross folly on our part to extend to the negro the privilege of doing what the omnipotent God of Nature has obviously, and for all time, denied him the power to do. Those of our half-witted and demagogical legislators who waste time in attempting to prove the equality of the negro, and in the drafting of absurd laws for his recognition in good faith as a citizen of the United States, might, with equal propriety busy themselves in the ridiculous irrationality of framing codes for allowing the gorilla and the chimpanzee to attend common schools, and for the baboon and the orangoutang to testify in courts of equity! Let the blundering and baneful two-thirds majority of the Black Congress both blush and beware."

And again:

Let there be a full and settled determination on the part of the American people, on the part of the people of each State, respectively, that, with a few honorable exceptions, no member of the Senate, no member of the House of Representatives, who voted for the Negro Bureau bill, or for any one of the thousand-and-one other black abominations of the Black Congress, shall ever again be elevated to any office of honor or trust under the government of the United States. On the contrary, let those guileful and nefarious framers of black statutes be made to feel that treason in themselves, just the same as treason in others, is a thing to be specifically detested and punished; and further, that so much greater is the enormity of their own treason than the treason of the traitor Jeff. Davis, that, whereas his perfidious purposes were practised only against the Caucassian-blooded inhabitants of a single commonwealth (and a few negroes, whether few or many, not worth the mention) their wicked designs have been levelled against the general and peculiar welfare of the whites of the whole world!

In order, also, that the pure purposes of God and good men may no longer be thwarted upon the earth (now that slavery and the champions of slavery have received their quietus), let the Black Congress be assisted or urged to flatter itself away as quickly as possible; then, without delay, let a White Congress, and thenceforward and forever none but White Congresses, be elected to enact laws for the salutary guidance of the great republic; let the negroes and all the other swarthy races of mankind, be at once and completely fossilized; and let all the whites, who are blessed with sane minds and right reason, raise together their voices upon the key of an universal pean; for all the lands and waters and pleasant places beneath the sun shall soon be theirs, to use and to occupy at discretion; and then, for the first time in the history of the world, will be more than realized the most popular and peerless promises of the painters, the poets and the prophets. All will be well; unexampled peace, plenty, and prosperity shall everywhere be the established order of things; and, in a single word, the long-talked of and superlative good time will have come at last?

Were we to say there is no truth in this book, we should err. In a book of this size, penned by ever so vicious a writer, he could hardly avoid saying something true, yet its entire character is wicked, inhuman and false.

We have said it would find few readers, but we are by no means sure that its teachings will find few advocates. Here and there in the South, there will be found some to advocate his views. But it is in the North that his book will do greatest mischief and find the greatest number of supporters. But he is mistaken as to the classes who will adopt his views. Conservatism, humanity and christianity will everywhere discard it. But five years will not elapse before thousands of those who now laud and magnify the Radical party and cry "Great is Diana of the Ephesians," will be equally zealous in cursing and destroying and banishing the negro race, as they have been in their professions of devotion and love for them. The book is Radical, its author is a Radical, and Radicalism will give it vent and influence.

HOW IS THIS?

It is stated that in the press dispatches of the "summary" of the Attorney General's opinion, which was sent North the word "not" found in the following paragraph, was in it, but in that sent South, the word "not" was omitted:

Municipal officers—that is to say officers of incorporated cities, towns, and villages, such as mayors, aldermen, town councils, police, and other city or town officers, are not subject to disqualification.

The Washington Evening Express states that the word "not" was omitted in the Southern dispatches, and accounts for the order of Gen. Pope in this way, which disfranchises all officers high and low who ever took the oath of office to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards favored the rebellion.

The Express is incorrect. The dispatch received at this office by the telegraph going South, contained the "not."

THE JUDGES. We observe that a number of our Superior Court Judges have been in the City for several days. We noticed on the street Judges Warren, Barnes, Shipp, Buxton, and Judge Fowle, who resides here. If others have been here within a week, we have not seen them. Perhaps, curious people seeing so many Judges here at one time, will want to know why, and what for. We have not enquired; that is their business.

MR STANTON.—We observe that the papers are intimating, that Mr. Stanton's late course in the cabinet taken in connection with his past history, is a clear bid for the Presidency. We judge that there are not less than one dozen aspirants for the Presidency among the ultra members of the so-called Republican party. But so far, Grant is the choice of the people, and he will not likely defeat himself by either his ultraism or his garrulity.

——The Charlotte Times alluding to the late Lieut. Paul Barringer Grier, a brave and worthy young man, says:

The remains of this brave young officer arrived here on Friday night, and were taken to the family burying ground for final interment on Saturday.

MORE REMOVALS OF MUNICIPAL OFFICERS.

R. W. Best, Esq., D. G. M., dedicated the Masonic Lodge at Nahunta, Wayne county, on Monday last. Rev. T. G. Lowe, of Halifax, delivered a fine lecture to the brethren of the "mystic tie." Mr. B. brings us disagreeable accounts of the condition of the crops in that region, caused by the severe rains.—The frogs and the grass seem to hold high carnival in that section.

THE LAND WE LOVE.—The July number of this popular monthly has been on our table for several days. It wears the same smiling face and provides a rich repast for its readers.

[From the American Agriculturist]

CULTIVATING ORCHARDS.

Apple orchards left to themselves bear only on alternate years, with such uniformity, that "bearing years" have come to be regarded as the order of nature, rather than a human device. The trees, in average soil, do not have aliment enough to give full crops every year. Cultivation and manuring will change all this, and give its remunerative crops every season. Possibly manuring might do this even if the orchard were left in grass. But the danger is, if the orchard is left unplowed, it will not get the manure.

The common objection offered to plowing is the damage done to the roots of the trees. We have no doubt that an orchard might be plowed so deep and so near the trunk of the trees as to damage it past hope of recovery.

But discretion is to be used, and the plow is to be kept so near the surface under the trees, as not to break off the large roots. It has also been ascertained that grain crops are not good for orchards. We have known orchards to be made barren for several years in consequence of a crop of rye. Grain crops, unless buckwheat be an exception, take from the soil what the tree needs, and shade the land too much. Root crops are the most desirable, because they requires a good deal of manure and thorough tillage to make them profitable. The frequent stirring of the soil, and the fertilizers are the want of the apple tree, and the root crop enables the farmers to give these to his orchard, and at the same time he is remunerated for his labor.

Potatoes, carrots, beets, turnips, are all good crops for the orchard, if you put on manure enough to make them pay. A surplus must be left in the soil to make the apple crop.

But will an orchard thus fed bear every year? We have no doubt of it. The Apple crop may be made as sure as the root crops. We once plowed up beneath an old apple tree that had an inveterate habit of bearing only every other year, and planted with potatoes, manuring liberally. We had a full crop of apples the second year, and shall always think the manure and the cultivation made the change. Horticulturists who make a speciality of apples, and manure every year, succeed in getting crops every season, with very rare exceptions. David Lyman, Esq., of Middlefield, Conn., stated at a recent meeting of the Board of Agriculture, that he cultivated his orchards, and got crops every year. They were not always full crops, but were enough to pay for the trouble. Judging from the appearance of his orchards, which we visited a few years since in the apple season, we think that a very modest statement. We have rarely seen so fine a show of apples, even at the county fairs, as could have been gathered from his trees. The secret of his success is cultivation and manure, and a reasonable watch against the encroachments of insects. The plowing late in the fall as well as the spring, he thinks a great safeguard against their depredations. Multitudes of the chrysalides are unearthed and destroyed. If this was attended to, and the windfalls picked up and fed to the pigs, we think there would be little damage from the attacks of insects. The apple is so fine a fruit, and so easily kept, it is so much both food and luxury, that no pains should be spared to keep our orchards in the best condition. We are tired of seeing apples quoted at $7 a barrel, but even at that price they are much cheaper than pills.

STATE ITEMS.

——The Wilmington Journal speaking of the damage done the crops in the Eastern Counties by the late rains says:

The effect of the recent rains upon the crops in all the Eastern portion of the State has been most disastrous. The damage sustained by planters in Brunswick, Bladen, New Hanover, Onslow, Duplin, Sampson, Edgecombe and all the Eastern counties, so far as heard from, has been very serious and almost irreparable. The corn and cotton crop have received a most severe blow, while the rice crop in this section has been almost entirely ruined. Along the line of the Cape Fear, and in fact in all the lowlands of the counties named, the damage is very apparent, and the pernicious results of the recent terrible rains will be long remembered. At no time could a more severe blow in this section befall us than at present, when our future prosperity so greatly depends upon an abundant yield.

——The Old North State, in alluding to the way to raise wheat, illustrates it by the following facts:

On the outskirts of Salisbury is a piece of land containing five acres, belonging to Mr. Thomas E. Brown. After gathering a good crop of corn and peas off this lot late last fall, Mr. Brown broke it up deep with a two-horse plow and then harrowed it. Upon the five acres thus prepared, he sowed five bushels of Baltimore white wheat, ploughing it in with a shovel plow and afterwards using the harrow.

The wheat has just been cut, and turned out two hundred and fifty-five large shocks which will yield at least one hundred bushels, and probably a good deal more.

What is the secret of this success? A free use of stable manures, and thorough cultivation, including deep ploughing.

The case of Col. J. P. Foster, Collector at this port, was called up before Commissioner Rutherford, yesterday morning, for investigation agreeably to postponement.—After the witnesses had assembled and the court announced its readiness to proceed, the counsel for the defense, in behalf of his client, waived an examination before the Commissioner, preferring to have the case brought directly before the United States Circuit Court.

The case accordingly goes over until the next term of the District Court. The defendant was required to give bond in the sum of $5,000 for his appearance before that tribunal for trial, and the witnesses were recognized in the sum of $500, each.

——The Wilmington Journal alluding to the injuries done to the Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road, by the late freshet, gives the following facts in a letter from Col. Fremont:

The Trestle over Stuart's Creek was washed up on Sunday morning about day light. Fortunately the trains going both ways had been stopped at Goldsboro', on Saturday night, hence no serious damage was sustained by them.

Many small streams heretofore almost unknown have risen to the dignity of rivers and washed away banks, and but for the timely attention of the Road and Section Masters and Bridge Master, who were very active, we should now have sundry breaks.

Rockfish Creek, Neuse River, Tar River and Fishing Creek have never been so high in the memory of the "oldest Railroad man" if not "inhabitant."

On the Tarboro' Branch, the large stone and brick culvert at Hatcher's Creek, was washed out and fifty feet of embankment gone. This was caused by the washing away of a mill-dam above. These facts have just been reported by telegraph from the Section Master on the Road.

There is considerable damage done the track between Rocky Mount and Whitaker's, above Battle's, but no connection broken yet, and I trust there will not be.

We think the entire line will be connected by sundown to day, and the trains be enabled to make their usual regular trips.

The bridges are thought all safe, as the rivers are reported to be falling.

——Our Wilmington exchanges give a lengthy account of a serious disaster which occurred on the Wilmington and Manchester Rail Road on Saturday last, at a trestle work near Peacock's station about six miles beyond Whiteville. Great precaution was observed, yet in attempting to run across the trestle work, about the time the engine attempted to stop for examination, it gave way, precipitating the engine and tender below and throwing the baggage and mail cars from the track. Messrs. Harrelson and Bird who were attached to the road, were standing on the tender, were mashed and killed and several other persons severely injured.

In the first place, we would urge upon all who are not precluded from doing so to register that they may be in a position to vote.

In the next place we would advise the organization of a white man's party, in the ranks of which all true Southern men should be marshalled, with the purpose of controlling the elections, and directing the action of the Constitutional Conventions which are to be held.

——The Goldsboro Star says:

It is worthy of remark, that Neuse river has been four times swollen, already, the present Spring and Summer; and the "freshet" which now prevails, is said to be the largest for many years. The water, yesterday, lacked only 24 inches of reaching the floor of the railroad bridge.

——The Newbern Republican says:

The mail train going up from this city ran off the track on Sunday morning last, near Kinston. Fortunately no one was hurt.

The accident was caused by the loosening of the rails, the heavy rains have washed away the earth from a culvert. The engine was precipitated some distance down a steep embankment. Superintendent Harvey on hearing of the disaster, dispatched a special train, with all necessary aid, to the scene of the occurrence.

——The Charlotte Democrat has the following. We judge it to be a little fun of Hunter and Lassiter of Portsmouth:

A consignment of smoked Herrings has been sent to Messrs. Presson & Gray of this city, from a Portsmouth dealer, with the instructions that if they could not sell them to give one box each to the most modest, prettiest, meanest and ugliest man in town. Those having claims in these respects will apply at once to Presson & Gray, and get their share.

P. S.—We learn that our friend Waring, of the Daily Times, had a box forced on him as the prettiest man, and we think he is entitled to it.

The Times pleads guilty and its local thought of applying for the two last, but found them already appropriated. The one intended for the modest man, was returned he says, there being no one to claim it.

SPECIAL NOTICES

KNOW THY DESTINY.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. THURSDAY JUNE 27, 1867.

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

BY ROBERT COFFIN.

Thy neighbor? It is he whom thou
Hast power to aid and bless;
Whose aching heart and burning brow
Thy soothing hand may press.

Thy neighbor? 'Tis the fainting poor
Whose eye with want is dim,
Whom hunger sends from door to door—
Go thou and succor him!

Thy neighbor? 'Tis that weary man,
Whose years are at their brim,
Bent low with sickness, cares and pain—
Go thou and comfort him!

Thy neighbor? 'Tis this heart bereft
Of every earthly gem;
Widow and orphan, helpless left—
Go thou and shelter them!

Where'er thou meet'st a human form
Less favored than thine own,
Remember, 'tis thy neighbor worm,
Thy brother or thy son.

Oh, pass not, pass not heedless by!
Perhaps thou canst redeem
The breaking heart from misery—
Go, share thy lot with him.

SUMMER AT THE GRAVES.

There comes a mistiness in all the air—a haze, a halo, a balm that lies like warm-loving hands upon the face of men. A curtain green is lifted against the woods, and shuts beyond the red clay hills and barren fields. There is a spirit and a presence here, a freshness that lays its cheek upon the sward, and journeys with the streams.

Nature is spreading a carpet in the woody aisles, and over the hills, and down the valley slopes, all spangled o'er with sprigs of green, snow drops and daises.—The birds, the warblers of the woodland choir, are in the trees, and music breaks from every leafy ambush.

Behold, the Queen of Spring has passed this way, and in her footsteps, beneath her moss-lined sandals, have sprung to birth these buds, this bloom, this balm, this loveliness.

Oh, dove-eyed season, why so sad?—Thine eyes are wet with weeping, and the dew hangs heavy on their lids and lashes. A mourner thou, thy steps again are busy midst the graves, and in this thy memorial season, thy hands are full of flowers, thine eyes with tears.

Adown these awful avenues, where row on row those hillocks rise; on the broad battle plains made billowy with graves; in the lonely valley; on the hill-side; upon the steep crest—wherever their graves are made, there the urn of pity receives the floral tears, there droop the earliest decorations of the dead.

Beloved June! oh grass and green their graves, and make the low and lowliest the greenest of them all. Teach the winds to sigh, the birds to sing most plaintive melodies amid the leaves—songs of the loved and lost, who died for their country and its cause. The rills, that like children go babbling by, subdue, as with finger upon lip, and set their notes to something sad and low.

Memorial June! thy roses are reddest at the graves, the turf the greenest o'er the mounds. Thy hands have dallied with the boughs, and wrought them into canopies above. None may question thy devotion, none snatch thy offerings from their altars, none mock thy tears, none drive the hence.—Southern Opinion.

TRUE MANHOOD.—Ashamed of the dingy workshop and dusty labor-field; of thy hard hand, scarred with service more honorable than of war; of the soiled weather stained garments on which mother Nature has embroidered, midst sun and rain, midst fire and steam, her own heraldic honors?—Ashamed of these tokens and titles, and envious of the flaunting robes of imbecile idleness and vanity? It is treason to Nature, it is impiety to Heaven's ordinance.—Toil, I repeat—toil, either of the brain, or of the heart, or of the hand; it is the only true nobility.

A clergyman recently dismissed from a Congregational church in Gilead, Conn., stated that the whole difficulty originated in his spelling the word "Savior" without a "u" as the more modern orthography and similar unimportant matters.

A little girl of three years was saying her prayers not long since, when her little brother, about four years old, came up slyly behind and pulled her hair. Without moving her head she paused and said: "Please, Lord, excuse me a minute while I kick Herby."

"Shall ladies have votes?" asked a stump speaker. "Certainly," replied a strong-minded woman in the audience. "Is a woman made only to sew on buttons?—And if she is, it is against the law of nature to turn away the needle from the poll."

GENERAL ORDER NO. 32.

HEADQUARTERS, 2ND MILITARY DISTRICT,
Charleston, May 30.

General Orders No. 32.

1. Any citizen, a qualified voter according to the requirements of the Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2nd, 1867, and the act supplemental thereto, passed March 23rd, 1867, is eligible to office in the Provisional government of North and South Carolina. All persons appointed to office will be required to take the oath prescribed by the act aforesaid and to file the same duly subscribed and sworn with the Post Commander.

2. All citizens assessed for taxes, and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors. It shall be the duty of the proper civil officers, charged with providing lists of jurors, to proceed within their several jurisdictions, without delay, and ascertain the names of all qualified persons, and place them on the jury lists, and from such revised lists all jurors shall be hereafter summoned, and drawn in the manner required by law.

3. All citizens are eligible to follow any licensed calling, employment or avocation, subject to such impartial regulations as may be prescribed by municipal or other competent authority, not inconsistent with common rights and the Constitution and laws of the United States. The bond required as security shall not exceed the penal sum of one hundred dollars. One or more sureties being citizens and worth, in the aggregate, double the amount of the bond, over and above just debts, will be sufficient.

4. The Mayors of cities and other municipal and town officers, and all Sheriffs, Magistrates and Police officers, are required to be vigilant and efficient in maintaining order, and in the discharge of their duties. They will be expected to co-operate with the military authorities.

5. Post commanders may summon to their aid, whenever the ordinary means at their disposal shall not be sufficient to execute their orders, such of the civil officers, and as many of the citizens, within the territorial limits of the military post, as may be necessary, and the neglect or refusal of any person to aid and assist in the execution of the orders of the Commanding officer will be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by such fine and imprisonment as may be imposed by a military tribunal approved by the Commanding General.

6. No license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one gallon or to be drank on the premises shall be granted to any person other than an Inn-keeper. The number of such licenses shall be determined, and the fees to be charged for each license shall be prescribed and collected, by the municipal or town authorities and appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the poor. If any person shall be found drunk on the premises where liquor is sold, the license may be revoked by any magistrate. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue laws of the United States is an additional charge and does not excuse the person from the observance of local regulations, nor exempt him from the payment of such other license fees as may be imposed by the municipal or other competent authorities.

7. All contracts hereafter made for the manufacture, sale or transportation, storage or insurance of intoxicating liquors shall within this military district be deemed and treated as against public policy, and no civil action, suit or proceedings for the enforcement of any such contract shall be entertained in any court.

8 In public conveyances on railroads, highways, streets or navigable waters, no discrimination because of color or caste shall be made, and the common rights of all citizens therein shall be recognized and respected. The violation of this regulation will be deemed a misdemeanor and render the offender liable to arrest and trial by a Military tribunal to be designated by the commanding General, besides such damages as the injured party may sue for and recover in the civil Courts.

9. The remedy by distress for rent is abolished. Where lands are leased, or let out for hire or rent, cotton, corn or other produce of the same, when severed from the land, may be impounded, but the same shall not be removed. Any cotton, corn or other produce so impounded shall be held as security for the rent or hire so claimed and may be sold in satisfaction of any judgment for the same, Provided, that any unsatisfied claim for labor bestowed upon the cultivation of such cotton, corn, or other produce, shall, in no case, be postponed to any demand for rent or hire. But to the extent of such claim for labor there shall be a lien on such cotton, corn and other produce having preference over any claim for rent or hire.

By command of
MAJ. GEN. SICKLES,
J. W. CLOUS, A. A. A. G.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established; Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish, or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same, and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX.
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial offices of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowledge and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any state, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, to aid and make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers, and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.
